A day after the harrowing earthquake in Nepal, seismologists said Friday that they thought the death toll in Nepal was likely to rise as rescuers in remote regions might not have access to accurate information on casualties. With the entire country paralyzed, the death toll was likely to rise. The area most devastated by the quake was near Mount Everest, Nepal's tallest mountain, outside the capital, Kathmandu. The U.S. Geological Survey said the quake hit at a depth of 30.7 miles, and it left 1,890 people dead, 2,168 people missing and almost 6,000 injured. . . .
